Class to Pursue Advanced Studies in Universities

Members of the class of 1916 which graduated from the Alexandria High School June 19 have announced intentions or desires regarding to the course of study they are likely to pursue next year and what college they hope to attend. Albert Bryan, winner of the scholarship to the Univerty of Virginia, will enter the academic department of the University next fall, and the following year will enter the three year law department as a candidate for an Ll. B. degree; Ashby Bladen, who was president of the class, will probably study at George Washington University next year, with law as his object in a few years. Vernon Warfield will study pharmacy at George Washington, and James M. Duncan, Jr., expects to enter either the academic or the engineering department of the University of Virginia. William L. Schafer, Jr., and Roland Gaines want to go to the Virginia Military Institute. James J. Goodwin, Jr., may go to Richmond College or to the University of Virginia)

Other young men in town who expect to go to the University of Virginia next year are Clarence J. Robinion, who graduated this year from the Augusta Military Academy, and C. Bruce Morton, a 1915 graduate of the Alexandria High School, and a student at the Episcopal High School this year. Both intend to take up the pre-medicine course in the academic department and later enter on the study of medicine. T. Tupper Barrett, who failed on his physical examination to the United States Naval Academy on account of eye trouble will enter the academic department of the University next year, if he annot enter Annapolis.

At present there are six students rom Alexandria at Virginia.
